The Storyteller in the Natural World: Biodynamic Listening and Speaking

How can the storyteller help us to build the life forces essential to our global sustainable well-being? Here is an opportunity to cultivate the biodynamic, resonant forces in ourselves and our natural surroundings that inform language, imagination and the sense of truth. During this intensive week, we will explore and create narratives that reflect inner and outer landscapes that are alive with integral awareness. Never has the need for fully embodied and mindful storytellers been more important. Together we will strengthen personal and communal consciousness that deeply nourish hope.

Nancy Mellon has taught integral storytelling worldwide for more than thirty years. Her books have been translated into seven languages. Please visit her website www.healingstory.com for references, podcasts and further details about her profoundly effective methodology. During recent years she has researched and written a new book about transforming the impact of electronic devices through storytelling processes.
